Laws and Government

Laws help keep us safe and ensure everyone is treated fairly. The government makes laws that everyone must follow. For example, stopping at a red light is a law to keep cars and people safe. People in the government, like the president, mayor, or governor, work to make sure communities run smoothly. When we follow laws, we help our schools, towns, and country become better places for everyone.

What is an example of a law mentioned in the passage?

Who helps make and enforce laws in a community?
