

Name: _____

Date: _____

Life on the U.S. Frontier

Life on the U.S. Frontier was both exciting and challenging. Many families traveled in covered wagons to find new homes in the West. They built houses from wood, mud, or logs, and grew their own food. Children helped with chores like collecting firewood, feeding animals, and fetching water. Sometimes, neighbors lived far away, so families had to be brave, even though life could be hard.

What were some of the chores that children did on the frontier?

Why did families have to be brave on the frontier?

How did frontier families celebrate special days?

