

Name: _____

Date: _____

SCIENTIFIC INQUIRY

Scientists like to ask questions and find answers. They look at things carefully and sometimes use tools like magnifying glasses. When they see something interesting, they make guesses about what will happen next. They try different ideas to see if they are right. This is called scientific inquiry.

What do scientists do when they see something interesting?

What is one tool that scientists use?

What is the name for finding answers by trying different ideas?

